Building Tips

When attaching a track piece to a TRACK SUPPORT, insert the track into one side of the TRACK SUPPORT at an angle. Once one corner of the track is on the inside of a TRACK SUPPORT tooth, straighten the track so the other corner fits inside the other TRACK SUPPORT tooth as show below.

1. Build track configurations on a smooth, hard surface for best results.
2. Do not build configurations that are more than three levels.
3. Do not use these track pieces with Go! Go! Smart Wheels[®] motorized or RC vehicles.
4. For maximum stability, place the track supports where the track pieces join together as shown below.

- Three track supports are necessary when joining two or three tracks together.

- Placing the track supports in the middle or near the ends of the tracks gives more stability to the structure.

- One track support is necessary for every 90-degree or 60-degree track that is used.

- Two track supports are necessary for every cross track that is used.

5. To ensure the stability of the track pieces, when building a ramp, we strongly recommend using a cross track or a 90-degree track to connect the tracks.

- Do not lean on vertically built structures.
- The support pieces have a locking mechanism to ensure the stability of the track pieces. Some children may require adult assistance to assemble and disassemble track configurations that use track supports.

Attaching labels to the track pieces should be done by an adult. Please adhere the labels to the track set as indicated on the following page:
